A. Background, Purpose, and Priorities

Inadequate access to mental health services is a significant problem throughout the Commonwealth. This is documented in the community health needs assessments conducted by the Virginia's nonprofit hospitals every three years. It is Virginia's rank of 19 by Mental Health America in access to behavioral health and 17th for services youth mental health (July 2024). At the same, every locality in Virginia is a federally designated as a Mental Health Professional Shortage Areas. In addition, the number of behavioral health professionals of color is disproportionately low, compared to the proportion of Virginians of color.

As a result, the 2021 General Assembly established the Virginia Behavioral Health Loan Repayment Program (BH LRP) to help recruit and retain licensed or certified behavioral health professionals to provide counseling and treatment to underserved Virginians in underserved areas of the Commonwealth. It has increased the funding BH LRP each year since.

In FY25, $7,350,000 in loan repayment dollars are available for distribution to qualifying applicants who commit to the required service obligation [two years at one of the many qualifying sites] listed in the program's authorizing legislation and guidelines (see pages 6-7).

Priority will be given to eligible behavioral health professionals of color, those who speak more than one language fluently, and/or those who practice in one of Virginia's Medically Underserved Areas (MUAs) and Mental Health Shortage Areas (MHPSA) with a high need score.

First priority consideration will be given to Tier One applicants, particularly Child and Adolescent Psychiatrists (CAPs) and psychiatrists enrolled in a Virginia CAP Fellowship program, then Tier Two applicants, followed by Tier Three (see pages 4-6).
